Friends of Committational Liberty, the DAYS: REFER, once more greate you, and takes a place along with the other Democratic papers of the State, as an advocate of your principles and defender of your rights. It ardeally expects at your mands a warm and friendly reception.

An important comparge is before its, fraught with more of good or evil than any which has ever preced ed it. The Life of the Nation and the Liberties of the people strast slake. The coming mosths are preg-nant with mighty events, and every man should be fully "posted" on the current issues, so as to be side to perfect his duy as becomes a freeman. The great build between Centralised Power and Individual Lib buttle between Centralized Power and Individual Liberty—Democracy and Despetism—is now being fought. If our people are true to themselves, the Constitution and the automate teachings of our patriot foreathers, the contest cannot be doubtful. The great mission of the Democratic party, which has ever stood as the bulwark of the Union and the champion of the Constitution, renders its entire unity and bold uttitude, in the hour of national peril, a matter of vital concern. The pending issue is not less for the maintenance of a united country than for the peripetuation of Democratic principles as expounded by Jerferson and Jackson. The mast is dead, every in its language in the lesson. The mast is dead, every in its language in the lesson. The mast is dead, every in its hang upon theissuo. The past is dead, save in its essons of experience. The Constitution, if preserved, a the beacon light that will guide us to a point o safety from the present sterm and coeffict; if trans-pled under foot and destroyed, we are lorever lost a darkness, gloom, marchy. It is the mission of the Democratic party to preserve infact that Constitution which gave us a Union. To that party alone may conservative citizens look for relief and a happy return to the proud days of the Republic, when peace smiled and prosperity reigned throughout the land. It is un-questionably the true Union party of the present day. questionably the true Union party of the prosent day. The life-record of our glorious Union and the sanctity of the Constitution fully attest this declaration, as under its product sway and judicious government the Union was made a blessing, and the Constitution a secret bond of equality and national happiness. Turn writher we may, we can see no ray of hope for the future salvation of our country—no "bow of promise" save in and through the triumph of the great Constitution and through the triumph of the great Constitution. intional Democratic party, founded as it is on so and principles and devoted unaligrably to the Union and perpetuity of this once happy and prespecus, tail

The Great Mass Meeting.-The great am meeting on Saturday, was by many housands the largest gathering ever held in Dayton. There was over eight miles of procession, making the fivest display ever wit newed in Ohio. It beggars all description. One page of our paper would be insufficient to describe all the various wagons, moltoes, banners, &c. We have not the space, and our rescriptive powers would fail to do justice to the immensity and magnitude of the display.
